Conflict of Interest Statement

A "Conflict of Interest Statement" is a formal agreement in which the author(s) of a manuscript declare that they have strictly adhered to professional publication ethics. This includes the avoidance of plagiarism, misconduct, data fabrication, and redundant or duplicate publication. Furthermore, the authors certify that there are no financial or commercial interests associated with the research and that they have not received any remuneration for the submission of the work. This statement serves to inform readers about the process through which the manuscript was prepared and submitted.

The corresponding author, acting on behalf of all contributing authors, signs and validates this form, thereby attesting to the authenticity and integrity of the work's content. The corresponding author further affirms that the manuscript has not been published elsewhere and is not currently under consideration by any other journal. Additionally, all rights regarding the use of the content, including tables, figures, and other supporting materials, are hereby transferred to the publisher.
